As my major in bachelor and master degree is Computer Science, I have learned the basic knowledge about software and hardware. During the learning process, I realize that I prefer software development rather than hardware development. As a result, I want to find a position of software engineer in a personal company. Firstly, the process to be a software engineer could increase my professional knowledge. Secondly, I believe the work environment can affect the quality of a person's work. Personally, I like the work environment fulling with friendly cooperation rather than competition, which could contribute to the completion of high-quality and high-efficient projects.
